LIVE VIDEO STREAMING FROM OUR KITCHEN

Product Demonstrations	Cooking Shows	Website Content

We are now offering live video streaming service from our commercial kitchen as our Director also has 30 years of experience as a professional photographer. Streaming not only permits social distancing but also helps you reach a larger audience and even a pay-per-view one.

Costs

There is a fee for both the kitchen rental and the live video streaming service. You may choose to:

1. pay for both outright and either allow your viewers to watch for free or have them pay-per-view using your own credit card processing service.
2. skip the rental and divide the pay-per-view income with us. We would take online payments from your viewers using our PayPal account and divide the income with you. This offer is a business incubator service. Not available to all clients.

Output

- Streaming can be broadcast to Zoom, Skype, Facebook, etc. They can be your accounts or ours.
- Streaming can be recorded for later use - with or without editing – for use on your website, YouTube, etc.

Personal Protection

1. You may have your own lavalier microphone (one that attaches to your collar) so that you can move about the kitchen as the live video is streaming.
2. The video camera could be stationery and the photographer outside of the kitchen.
3. The video camera could zoom in out and move right and left, with the photographer operating it from at least 6' away.
4. You would need to leave the kitchen in the state that you found it and our cleaning service would do additional disinfecting.
5. You could arrange to use the kitchen several days after the last renter.
