Sunday Memoranda made by William J. Webster
Mo 1. 1870 -

The East end of the Grave Yard is now made to pass through the middle of the large Butterwood Tree

No 2

And the North Side of the Grave Yard Walk is just on the South line of the Said tree: Which tree measures (at a distance of One and a half feet from the ground) 18 ft. in Circumference. —

Between # 18 and # 19 on the South side is a wild Cherry tree, and just at its foot on the South side of it is the Corner between lots # 18 and # 19 —

From Corner in the South line between lots # 17 and # 18 to the South side of the Walk the Distance is 28 ft. 10 in

From Corner in the South line between lots # 18 and # 19 to the South side of the Walk the Distance is 46 ft. 3 in.

Since the above Memoranda were made, there have been monuments set at the corners on the South side, along the driveway, to the Sheds.

They were placed in position June 3, 1889, and the measurements may vary slightly from the aforementioned.

Prior to about the year 1828 there was no regular map of the Grave Yard, and all locations of graves up to that time are from the traditional accounts of the Old Sextons living at that time and of other persons supposed to know about them.

The Original map was made under the supervision of Robert Thomas and Thomas Dutton.
